Message from the Chair

By Emeritus Professor Nick Hardiker

As we enter 2025, IMIA NI welcomes a new Executive Committee. I thank the General Assembly and Nominating Committee for their trust in this outstanding team. Together, we will build on the strong foundations set by the previous Committee, led by Ann Kristin Rotegard.

Our priorities include refreshing our strategic plan, strengthening the work of our four Advisory Panels, fostering collaborations, and enhancing communication within IMIA NI. In the coming months, we will engage with members and stakeholders to gather feedback and ensure alignment with shared goals.

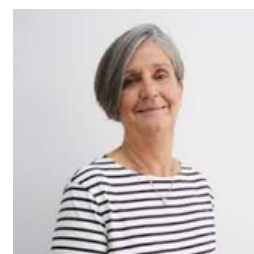

IMIA NI thrives on the passion of its members. As the leading global organization for nursing informatics, we have a unique opportunity to support digital nursing and drive innovation worldwide. Let's work together toward a brighter future.

Tso-Ying (Joy) Lee is a professor at Taipei Medical University and the director of the Nursing Research Center at Taipei Medical University Hospital. She specializes in digitalizing nursing operations to enhance efficiency and care quality. As Vice Chair of Membership, she aims to promote global collaboration in nursing informatics.

Dawn Dowding is a Professor at the University of Manchester, leading the Digital Health and Social Care Research group. As Vice Chair for Advisory Panels, she focuses on collaborating with the community to enhance global nursing informatics and maintain innovative practices.

Ulla-Mari Kinnunen is a FIAHSI, a Professor of Health and Human Services Informatics at the University of Eastern Finland and at the Research Center for Nursing Science and Social and Health Management, North Savo, Finland. She serves as Adjunct Professor in Evidence-Based Research and Development and leads the Finnish Terminology Expert Group. As Vice Chair of Admin & Finance, she promotes the significance of nursing informatics in ensuring safe and effective patient care.

Helen Almond is an Associate Professor in Digital Health and Informatics and the Head of the School of Nursing at the Institute of Health and Management in Melbourne. As Vice Chair of Communication, she focuses on global engagement, diverse perspectives, and the importance of informatics in nursing.
